The present web site is the property of Lanema. Its total or partial reproduction is prohibited without the express authorisation of Lanema and the owners of the trade marks appearing in it.

The reproduction, copying, use, distribution, marketing, public communication or any other activity which can be carried out with the information contained in these web pages and made without the express authorisation by Lanema and/or the owners of the trade marks, is an infraction sanctioned by current legislation.

The names and logos set out in these pages are commercial registered trade marks, the property of the legitimate holders.

Lanema denies all liability that may arise from the improper use of the contents set out in these pages and reserves the right to update them, cancel them, establish limitations or restrict their access at any time, temporarily or permanently.

Lanema denies all liability that may arise from any information not contained in these web pages. Specifically, the company denies liability over information contained in the web pages of third parties connected via links with the Lanema web pages. Lanema is not responsible for the possible errors of security which may occur through the fact of using computers infected with computer virus or the consequences that may arise from the improper functioning of the navigator or through the use of nonupdated versions of the same.

The users of these pages are advised that the use of electronic systems of transfer of data and e-mail do not offer absolute guarantees of security. Lanema will accept no liability arising from these matters.

Lanema will adopt the measures within its reach for the protection of the personal data of the users, preserving their privacy. The user authorises Lanema to obtain or record data relative to the connection, and for the possible use of verification or registration files in the user's disc (cookies), only for the purpose of operation, security and statistics, which data, in a possible treatment of the information, will be disassociated from data of a personal nature. All this in accordance and compliance with the current regulations over the protection of data of a personal nature.

The exemptions from liability contained here in do not have for their purpose to limit the liability of Lanema in a form contrary to the provisions of the national regulations applicable, nor to exclude the company's liability in the cases where, by virtue of these regulations, it may not be excluded.
